BEHIND THE SCENES: Strangers on the Run

Fox Wilde - The Making of Strangers on the Run

BIO

Formed in 2015, Fox Wilde is comprised of brothers and multi-instrumentalists Michael and Dimitri Leros, bassist Caroline Cirone and drummer Fer Fuentes. Michael and Dimitri wrote songs with several well-known artists and producers. In 2016, they scored a number one hit in Japan with Nami Amuro's "Birthday," which they co-wrote with Andreas Carlson, who has produced several Katy Perry, Britney Spears, and Backstreet Boys tracks. The Leros brothers have also written and produced music with Desmond Child, who collaborated with Bon Jovi and Aerosmith, and Justin Tranter, who collaborated with Selena Gomez and Justin Bieber.

Even more impressive, they composed the score for Demi Lovato's YouTube documentary Simply Complicated, Baywatch Remastered, and Alex Morgan's Equalizer docu-series on ESPN+. Additionally, they wrote music cues for commercials and episodic television shows (including Will Farrell's "Funny or Die") that featured brands such as Clean & Clear and artists such as Nick Jonas and Taylor Lautner. They also wrote the theme song for Netflix's cartoon "Mac and Moxy."

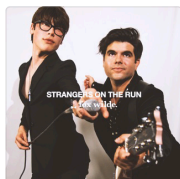

Most importantly, Fox Wilde does not rush creativity, and believes in producing a great track regardless of the time it takes by "not just trying to finish a song as fast as we can," said Dimitri Leros. "We enjoy the process of writing and crafting a song. That's what makes it art." As Michael stated, "[The Fox Wilde founders] thrive on producing, writing, and performing our own material." They even record their music in their home recording studio. Last year, Fox Wilde made Music Connection's list of the Top 100 Best Unsigned Bands in the U.S.
